HOW DOES MICROSOFT 365/M365 CHANGE THE RECORDS MANAGEMENT GAME? — WHAT DO YOU NEED TO KNOW?

Speakers: Atle Skjekkeland, John Mancini, Infotechtion

Given some of the records management weaknesses in early versions of SharePoint, it has become almost an article of faith among many records managers and those in the information governance community that on its own, M365 (formerly known as Office 365) is insufficient for "serious" records management. But what if that is no longer the case? How does rapid innovation in the cloud change the way you need to look at this question? How are future looking organizations addressing the explosion of content in M365 — and more specifically Teams? What do YOU need to know? Attend this session to learn how leading organizations are pushing the platform.
